

CDBG-DR Community Engagement Series

Volusia County will receive $328.9 million in Community Development Block Grant-Disaster Recovery funds to support the long-term recovery efforts from Hurricane Ian.

Help the county determine the community's unmet needs and develop a public action plan to distribute these funds! Volusia County will host five community engagement meetings, in each of the five county council districts to hear from the community about their unmet needs and collect feedback on projects or programs the community thinks would be most beneficial to support disaster recovery. Funds can be used for restoration of infrastructure (roads, bridges, storm water, etc.), housing, economic revitalization and mitigation, with a primary focus on assisting low- to moderate-income households.
